Session Overview

Sepsis is the number one cause of death in hospitals and costs the health care system over $24 billion annually. Home care plays a vital role in early detection, prevention and treatment of sepsis as 80-90% of sepsis cases originate in the home and community.

Adults age 65+ are 13 times more likely to be with sepsis than younger persons and nursing home residents are over 6 times more likely to present with sepsis in the emergency room than non-nursing home residents.

In this session you will learn about:

- The extent of the problems associated with sepsis in NYS.
- How sepsis affects the elderly and caregivers.
- The Home Care Association of New York's Stop Sepsis at Home Initiative.
- Information about prevention, detection, and treatment of sepsis.
- How to proactively help prevent sepsis in your community.
- Policy and program efforts to address the sepsis problem in NY.
